Novotus Dominates Austin Technical Recruiting
Captures First Place Ranking in Austin Business Journal

Austin, TX – June 21, 2010 – Novotus made more full time and temporary technical hires than any other Austin staffing and recruiting firm during 2009, according to the Austin Business Journal rankings.

Each year, the ABJ releases the list of Top High-Tech Recruiting Firms, ranking by total technical placements. Novotus topped the list, with a total of 2,291 total employees placed. Novotus ranked second on the list last year, and has been in one of the top three firms on the ABJ list for the seventh consecutive year.

"I am pleased that we have been able to continue our growth even as hiring has slowed," said Novotus CEO Mike Mayeux. "Our business model is significantly different than a traditional staffing firm. As a result companies know they can turn to us to help control their recruiting costs and improving the quality of their hiring. As Austin rebounds we have geared up for tremendous growth in the days ahead."

Novotus finished 2009 with 2,291 hires from the Austin office. That was more than 10% more than the second place firm, and more than twice the number of hires made by the third place company on the list.
